Media Kit

SIGNALS

The Museum of Information Explosion

Museum of Information Explosion

"Our vision is to educate and inspire visitors and the world by bringing the magnificent history of communication technology to life, and by highlighting the scientists, engineers and business leaders who made our connected information world possible."

—Dr. Marc Bendickson, MIE Founder

Our Purpose

- Connect Huntsville to our history of technology
- Preserve over two-thousand artifacts of communications importance
- Celebrate our community's role in development of computer technology
- Inspire the next generation to invent and create
- Attract tourists and visitors as they follow the path of discovery
- Showcase stories with cutting edge 3D technology

Museum Programs

- Docent guided tours
- Journey through interactive displays
- Exciting hands on learning for school groups
- Radio building and Morse Code camps
- Comprehensive communications literature and audio library
- An exceptional event space situated within our timeless collection
- An abundance of volunteer opportunities
- Working ham-radio shack
- Operational on-site radio tower